Written by Bob Suggs
Thursday, 15 March 2012 08:59

In a dystopian future, a relentless turf war rages. Two rival gangs feud for control of rural wasteland Frazier Park ('The FP') in the deadly arena of competitive dance-fight video game "Beat-Beat Revelation." After hometown hero BTRO is slain on the dance platform by thug leader L Dubba E, his protégé younger brother JTRO (Jason Trost) goes into isolation, vowing never to duel again. One year later, The FP is in ruins, and JTRO must find the courage to return and restore order in a ruthless battle for revenge that can only leave one man dancing. From the producers of PARANORMAL ACTIVITY and featuring narration by James Remar (THE WARRIORS), THE FP is a fury of fierce footwork, triumphant montages and neon street wear that Moviefone calls "a rare ready-made cult hit."

The ‘FP’ of the title refers to Frazier Park, an unincorporated mountain town in Kern County, CA. It’s the turf fought over by two rival gangs, the noble 248 from the north, and the dastardly 245 from the south, by way of winner-take-all endurance matches of Beat Beat Revelation.

"LOUD, FURIOUS & RECKLESSLY FUNNY!"
—Indiewire

"UTTERLY UNIQUE...A Rare Ready-Made Cult Hit!"
—Moviefone

WATCH THE FIRST 10 Minutes...

Actors: Jason Trost, Lee Valmassy, Art Hsu, Caitlyn Folley, Nick Principe, Brandon Barrera, Sean Whalen, James Remar
Directors: Jason Trost, Brandon Trost
Format: Dolby, NTSC, Widescreen
Rated: R (for pervasive language, sexual content, some nudity and brief drug material)
Studio: IMAGE ENTERTAINMENT
DVD Release Date: June 19, 2012
Run Time: 83 minutes
Website: http://drafthousefilms.com/film/the-fp

{iteminfo asin:=B007I8KXPE}