The Collapsed is a chilling glimpse into one family's battle to stay alive while traversing a hellish landscape of barbarism and cannibalism . . . As our world ends, their nightmare begins.

In wake of an unknown event that has catapulted civilization into a fatal downward spiral, the Weaver family -- father Scott (John Fantasia), young adult son Aaron (Steve Vieira), mother Emily (Lise Moule) and teenage daughter Rebecca (Anna Ross) -- desperately tries to survive.

Fleeing the city, their only hope of sanctuary is a rural hometown from their past, Dover's Bend. With the constant threat of violent death forcing them to stay as far away from civilization as possible, they take to the forest. However, they soon discover that the danger posed by other survivors may be the least of their worries. Someone -- or something -- seems to have followed them into the wilderness...

Already generating buzz from screenings at the Fangoria Film Festival, the Fright Night Film Festival, Rue Morgue's Festival of Fear, as well as winning awards at the 2011 Metropolitan Film Festival of New York and the Crypticon Film Festival, Anchor Bay Entertainment presents the U.S. DVD debut of the apocalyptic thriller THE COLLAPSED on June 5th.
